Tellco is a scientific opinion survey company which conducts opinion polls and market research for newspapers, TV stations, government agencies, corporations, non-profits and academic institutions. Tellco does not know your name, protects your privacy and guarantees your confidentiality.

- Tellco does not make sales calls.
- Tellco does not conduct telemarketing.
- Tellco will not try to sell you anything, now or ever.

If you were called by Tellco to participate in one of our opinion research studies, your phone number was selected at random. We respect your time, we respect your privacy, and yet we would ask for 5 to 10 minutes of your time to help us understand how people just like you feel about the important issues of the day.

We very much appreciate those of you who take the time to complete our surveys.

Tellco recognizes that some of you may not wish to participate in scientific opinion research studies. If you would like to be excluded from future research conducted by Tellco, please email.
